COLLEGE WILL ERECT STUDENT UNION BUILDING

Gettysburg College within a month will advertise for bids for a student union building expected to cost $1,400,000.

That was revealed with the announcement at Washington, D. C., Tuesday afternoon that the Community Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency has approved the college's application for a loan of $1,120,000.

The approval was given formally by Commissioner John C. Hazel-tine.

The announcement said the college will contribute $280,000 of its own funds to supplement the federal loan.

To Go On Barracks Site

The new building will include a swimming pool, bowling alleys, large ballroom with stage, post office, book store, lounges, new quarters for the college radio station, snack bar, game rooms, music lounge with listening booths and conference rooms.

The building will be erected north of the Memorial Football Stadium and south of the third block of W. Lincoln Ave. where the temporary student barracks were erected in World War II days. The barracks have been removed.

In the application for the loan, the college stated the present social and recreational facilities on the campus for the college's 1,445 full-time students are "inadequate."

Contracts By Spring

College officials said today that "within a month" the college will advertise for bids for construction of the new building and that would mean that contracts could be awarded by late spring with the work to move ahead soon afterwards.

The building will be red brick with stone trim, similar to the architecture of other campus structures. J. Alfred Hamme Associates of York are the architects for the structure.

The Gettysburg Times was notified of the loan approval by a telegram from the office of Congressman S. Walter Stauffer.

SOROPTIMISTS SPONSOR BEAUTY ROOM AT HOME

The Soroptimist club will sponsor a room to be used as a beauty parlor by the guests at the Adams County Home. It was decided at a meeting of the club in the Adams Electric Cooperative building Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Estelle Williams, the club's representative on the Home Auxiliary, reported that with the assistance of Mrs. George Shealer, owner of Beatrice Beauty Salon, she had been able to secure a shampoo chair and bowl for the room. She is seeking several wicker chairs, a mirror, supplies' cabinet and sundry other items and if these are not contributed by friends of the home the club will purchase them.

Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, president, presided at the meeting with 28 members present. Miss Julia Beidler was elected to the position of secretary. Mrs. Buehler reported on the Junior Chamber of Commerce Awards dinner, at which she represented the club, and stated that a letter of congratulations and appreciation for the work being done by that group in the community had been sent to their president.

Invited To Dinner

Mrs. S. A. Burton, substituting for Mrs. Donald E. Myers, representative on the Gettysburg College Advisory Committee, while the latter is in Florida, reported on the dinner meeting held at the college last week, at which Mrs. Buehler was elected a member of the Executive Committee. The club voted to subscribe to "The Gettysburgian," the college weekly paper. They also expressed a desire to be conducted through some of the college buildings. Mrs. Burton, re-

COUNTY LAND MAY BE SOLD FOR RESERVE ARMORY

The Adams County Commissioners anticipate that they will "in about six months" complete plans to sell part of the county home land.

The commissioners revealed that they anticipate selling the land when Capt. George Callahan of the Army Reserve approached the county governing board this morning at its meeting at the court house to ask whether approximately five acres of county home land might be available for purchase by the government as a site for an Army Reserve Armory.

E. Donald Scott, chairman of the commissioners, said the county sold land to the school board and was considering selling additional land. "We ought to have something worked out in about six months," he said. Commissioner Blaine Bushey said that some land would have to be sold "if we're going to get enough money to renovate the county home."

Plan Training Center

Capt. Callahan said that he would have to know whether there was a possibility of purchasing the land before that time. The government has allocated funds for the construction of a 200-man training center for the local Army Reserve. He said but the fiscal year ends in July and he will have to report on potential sites in the near future.

The commissioners suggested he report to Army headquarters the possibility of the site and that the commissioners will consider the matter when Army officials arrive to either reject the potential site or begin discussion toward purchasing it.

The commissioners approved $501.47 in county aid for Biglerville. The petition stated that the

SPEAKER SAYS ALL RETARDED CAN BE HELPED

The regular meeting of the parents' organization of the Day Care Training Center was held in the school classroom Tuesday night with 25 people attending. The business meeting was opened by the president, Jacob Menges, Hanover.

Th program was presented by Mrs. Arthur Clapper, York, formerly from Gettysburg, who was one of the founders and a past president of the York County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children. Mrs. Clapper is now a director of the York County Chapter. Also in attendance from York was Mrs. E. Gordon Long, secretary of the York association.

Mrs. Clapper stressed the need for local publicity "so that everyone could know that all retarded children can be helped" and what is being done for them in the various counties. "It is a project for home, community and school. Every child has the right to be understood, respected and helped regardless of his age, degree of retardation or handicap, station in life, economic condition, race or creed. Every child must be given an opportunity to realize his full potential," she said.

Mr. Menges appointed a nominating committee, to report at the May meeting, consisting of Mrs. June Pieper, Gettysburg, chairman; Glenn Baker, Abbottstown, and Philip Messenger, McSherrystown. Mrs. Edwin Longenecker will be in charge of the April meeting.

The local branch and any interested persons have been invited by the York chapter to hear Dr. Bartrem of St. Christopher's Hospital, Philadelphia, who will speak on March 20 in the VNA building, 128 E. Market St., York. Anyone interested should call Mrs. Donald Hubbard at 221-Z for transportation.

RESURFACING OF MIDDLE ST. NOT SCHEDULED

It is not likely that W. Middle St. will be resurfaced from curb-to-curb this year unless the Borough of Gettysburg has curbs placed to grade at the western end of the street and then receives state approval. The curb placing to grade must be according to state Highway Department specifications. The Times was informed today.

Placing the curbs is up to the borough and the Highway Department will not consider resurfacing the street until that work is completed.

The state has also requested that the abandoned railroad tracks across the street near the old Atlantic refinery building be removed. The Reading Railroad has refused to remove the tracks.

The Times learned from an authentic source that engineers had reported to the Highway Department that the street is not considered in "critical condition." Hence no plans have been developed to resurface it. Later, it was learned, the engineers were directed to take a "further look" at the street for possible further consideration of resurfacing it.

In Poor Condition

There are no curbs for a few blocks at the western end of the street. The street, especially the northern half, is in poor condition. There are a number of holes and driving is difficult. The southern half of the street is in fair condition. It does not bear much traffic because parking is permitted on that side, leaving the remainder of the street for traffic.

Some time ago Clyde Garber, local superintendent of highways, said it was impossible to keep the street in good condition with patching. The traffic survey made in Gettysburg in the summer of 1956 by the Highway Department is in the hands of the printer and copies are expected to be delivered to the borough council sometime in April.

SCHOOL MUSIC AIMS, METHODS ARE DESCRIBED

The music program in the Gettysburg public schools, its aims and methods, was presented in outline form at the February meeting of the Gettysburg Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening in the general purpose room school. About 100 attended.

President Eisenhower Lauds Benson For Honesty, Courage

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, defying Midwestern Republican demands that he fire Secretary of Agriculture Benson, praised Benson today as a man of courage and honesty.

The President told a news conference that people advocating that Benson be ousted are badly mistaken in taking that position. Eisenhower left no doubt he intends to ignore demands for Benson's resignation.

Some Midwestern Republicans in Congress, sharply critical of Benson farm policies, have contended that continuing him in office would cost the party 25 to 30 congressional seats in the November elections.

This was Eisenhower's first news conference in three weeks — and his third since last Oct. 30. He dealt also with these other matters:

COUNTY COUNCIL OF CHURCHES IS BEING PROPOSED

A new step toward the formation of a proposed Adams County Council of Churches has been taken by a steering committee by distributing copies of the constitution and bylaws of the new council to churches throughout the county asking their adoption and designation of representatives to the council.

Accompanying the constitution to nearly 100 churches throughout the county is a letter signed by the steering committee directing that replies be addressed to Luther M. Lady, Biglerville R. 2, who has been serving as chairman of the committee.

When a number of churches have approved the council's constitution and named their representatives, a "constituting assembly" will be called to achieve formal organization of the council in Adams County, the letter indicates.

"More Effective Cooperation"
Membership in the council is open to congregations of Christian churches in the county "which are in agreement with the preamble and purpose of this constitution," the document provides. In addition to congregations, community council

SAYS MEMBERS NECESSARY FOR VETS' BENEFITS

Nelson W. McCloskey, York, past department commander of the VFW and now assistant sergeant-at-arms of the national VFW, was the principal speaker Tuesday evening at a Past Commanders and Past Presidents dinner held by the local VFW and its auxiliary at the post home on E. Middle St., with 60 present.

Veterans' benefits can be maintained only by increased membership in veterans' organizations, McCloskey told the group. "There are 26,000,000 eligible for membership in the various veterans' organizations and of that number 6,000,000 are enrolled. It is unfortunate because Congress is impressed by one thing, votes, and the more votes you represent the more easily it is to gain a hearing. We do not ask for more than the veteran deserves but we do think that when industry, agriculture and just about everything else are subsidized the veteran should continue to be entitled to a bed in a hospital when he is ill and unable to care for himself. We think the veteran who has lost arms or legs is entitled to a pension and we think the nation should hold fast to the promises it made when its men marched away to battle.

Cut Vet Benefits

"Yet whenever there is an emergency the veterans' benefits are the first thing cut. When economy was the watchword after World War I, veterans' benefits were the first to go. Now we hear of sputniks and the need for a crash program and what is the first thing mentioned as something that can be cut? Again it is the veterans' benefits. "We need more members and we can gain them. They are there and there is interest. "Today we are going through a trend, a trend of absence from meetings. Once the father of the family was proud to go to his lodge (Continued On Page 3)

The pursued car had failed to stop for the red light, state police said.

The crash which occurred at the intersection of Rts. 16 and 11 at Greencastle was the first traffic fatality in Franklin County this year.

CHANGE DATES OF DAY CAMPS FOR GIRL SCOUTS

The Adams County Girl Scout camping committee, meeting Tuesday night at the Girl Scout office in the First National Bank building, voted to change the dates for the annual day camps—because of the changes in the closing of schools brought about by last week's blizzard.

Most affected will be the day camp for the Gettysburg-Fairfield troops originally scheduled for June 2 to 6, with Mrs. Gordon Webster as director. If the schools must stay open later than originally scheduled, because of the days lost because of the blizzard, the camp will be held July 7 to 11. If schools close as originally scheduled the camp will be held June 2 to 6.

June 9 to 13 the Arendtsville, Biglerville, Bendersville, Cashtown, York Springs and New Chester troops will attend with Mrs. Marvin Fox as director.

Set Camp Fees
June 16 to 20 the Littlestown, Bonneauville and St. Francis Xavier troops will be encamped with Mrs. Donald Fair as director.

June 23 to 27 the New Oxford, East Berlin, Hampton and Conewago Chapel troops will be encamped with Mrs. Hardy Nichols as director.

The committee set the fee for the camps at $4 for the five day sessions, with the amount to include transportation, milk each day, food for one cookout and crafts. Flyups, intermediates and seniors will be allowed one overnight stay for which an additional 50-cent charge will be made for the evening meal and breakfast.

Campship applications for Camp Sacajawea originally due February 24 will be received up to March 7 because troops were unable to meet during the inclement weather, it was decided.

Next meeting of the committee will be held April 8 at 8 p.m. in the Girl Scout office.

DENY SHORTAGE OF SNOW FENCE

HARRISBURG (P)—Highways Secretary Lewis M. Stevens says there was adequate snow fence in place everywhere in Pennsylvania prior to the Feb. 15 snowstorm.

Replying yesterday to attacks by critics who claim the snow fence protection was inadequate, particularly in the southeastern counties, Stevens said surveys made by maintenance officials last spring resulted in redistribution of fencing, but that "sufficient footage remained available."

Of 12,616,700 feet of fencing available to the department last winter, he said, 447,542 feet had been condemned. Some of it was left lying in the fields and not burned, he added, because it was feared grass, brush or woodland fires might have been touched off due to the drought conditions of last summer.

That explains, he said, why rolls of fence were seen lying around at some points while the wind-whipped snow was piling up in road-choking drifts after the big storm.

TURKEY CASE ON TRIAL IN COURT TODAY

The Adams County court this morning began trial to determine who owes for turkeys and eggs in the action in assumpsit brought by Dr. C. H. Webster, McSherrystown chiropractor and turkey raiser, and his wife, Irene P. Webster, against Kent E. Golden, York Springs R. 1 turkey hatcheryman, and his wife, Doraleyn S. Golden.

Dr. and Mrs. Webster testified they had entered into an agreement about two years ago by which they purchased a number of Thompson strain turkey poulters from the Golden and in turn the Golden were to purchase at 30 cents each, the eggs produced by 800 of the hens raised from the poulters.

Dr. Webster said he delivered 4,000 last spring and was told that Golden was having trouble disposing of poulters and could not pay for the eggs but would provide the labor and equipment and "we'll dispose of them as best we can." Dr. Webster said he left the 4,000 eggs at the Golden hatchery and made several more trips leaving several thousand more eggs before calling Golden and telling him he was going to dispose of the remaining eggs elsewhere, Dr. Webster said.

Decree In Divorce
Most of the morning was taken in the hearing of testimony by Dr. and Mrs. Webster and discussion between attorneys. This afternoon the defense presented its side of the turkey-egg problem.

New Office Service

Ray J. Snyder, deputy clerk of the commissioners, reported that many persons seek birth certification from the commissioners' office based upon voting registrations. The certificates generally are needed by those seeking Social Security who do not have birth certificates but who can obtain a certificate from the county voting records at the time they registered.

Snyder said there are approximately 21,000 such records on file since the present type of registration began in 1937 and that the work entails "20 minutes to a half hour." He also said those seeking the certification usually ask, "How much do I owe you?" Snyder asked the commissioners what he should charge.

The commissioners took the matter under advisement to determine legal questions involved. It appeared that if legally possible counties will not have to pay and non-counties required to pay a small fee.

"A BROKEN HEART"

A bird without a song to sing
... forsaken work of art ...
a voice that no one seems to hear
... this is a broken heart
... a flower in the wilderness
... an echo lost in space
... a living thing that lives to feel ... the touch of one embrace ... the weight of disappointment ... engulfed in doubts and fears ... a steady beat of tenderness ... dampened by bitter tears ... a broken heart is true love lost ... an empty winter night ... the essence of a reason why ... that's void of all delight ... faint faith, dim hope, a faded dream ... a disillusioned smile ... dwelling in a vast expanse ... where nothing seems worthwhile ... so I've described a broken heart ... my verse is nearly ended ... but bear in mind, if given time ... it can and will be mended.

CREDO

I believe in the infallibility of success, the dignity of work, and the inspiration of achievement. I believe that I have certain powers and abilities reserved to me alone. I believe that I am directly responsible for their development and full fruition. I believe that no one but myself can turn me away from my determined path. I am my own master but God is my Father and Guardian, and to Him I must look for guidance and direction.

I believe that fear is misunderstanding, that perfect knowledge and complete confidence in God and myself are sure to eliminate all fear from my life.

I believe in the acknowledgment of error, that it is mainly to change my mind as often as I learn I am on the wrong path. I believe in facing my mistakes and learning from them. I believe in the humanness of friendship. I believe in good cheer and no complaining as to my lot in life. I believe in forgiving, in forgetting, and in remembering — in forgiving unintentional injuries and blunders, in forgetting the unhappy, and in remembering every good and noble thing. I believe in the rewards for service, and the law of compensation.

I believe in the eternity of influence, and that there is a Hereafter for everything good that we do. I believe in the glory of silence and the solitude of prayer. I believe in doing one's best and seeking no extra compensation for doing so.

I believe in doing my best, according to my light. I believe that I am neither bigger nor better than I do. I believe in the kinship of all human beings, and in the democracy of service.

Just Folks

SUSPICIOUS
He's been very nice to me
Of late; I wonder why 'tis so.
Before, when'er we chanced to meet,
He'd very seldom say: "Hello!"
But now he stops to take my hand
And breathes the hope that I am well.

His manner's hard to understand.
I wonder what he has to sell.
He stopped me on the street today
And asked me if I'd like a smoke,
And many were the pleasant things
About my work that fellow spoke.

He patted me upon the back
And said that he admired me much.
I'm really quite suspicious he
Is laying plans to make a touch.

When'er a brother gets too kind
Or suddenly becomes polite,
I've grown to think a baited hook
Is dangling near for me to bite.

I've learned some things upon this earth
And some, indeed, were to my sorrow.
When man effusive grows —
He wants to sell or wants to borrow.

THE BISHOP AND THE SCANDAL SHEET

By HOWARD M. LESOURD
Educator

At a party in our home several years ago, we asked each couple to come prepared to put on an informal stunt. One couple rendered a clever song about a girl who could not whistle when offered various gifts but when the prize was a man whistled enthusiastically.

Bishop Herbert Welch

What a mad this skit so funny and unusual was that the performers were Bishop and Mrs. Herbert Welch. He was 92, she was in her eighties!

These two were so much the life of the party that one woman, with a somewhat reproachful look at her husband, spoke up: "Oh, if only we could grow old like the Welches."

Later my wife, Lucille, remarked to me privately, "You can grow old like the Welches." This other couple simply hadn't found the secret.

"Divine Guidance"
Part of the secret was revealed at Bishop Welch's 93rd birthday party two years ago when he was asked, "For what year in life are you most grateful?"

"I am most grateful for Divine Guidance," he replied. Today the Welches live just a few blocks from us in New York City. The other night we visited them. The Bishop greeted us with that same twinkle in his eye we have grown to love so much. And although no longer in active life, Mrs. Welch's radiant personality shone through her greeting.

Then, during the course of pleasant conversation, it happened. For the first time in nearly 50 years, the Bishop referred to an escapee in which I was involved back at the turn of the century, the outcome of which changed my life.

A Scandal Sheet
It came up very casually. We were talking about slanderous publications on the market today. Said the Bishop, "Almost as bad as that Bogus sheet you fellows put out . . ."

The incident occurred in 1908 when Herbert Welch was President of Ohio Wesleyan, and I was a green but a high-spirited freshman. In those days, an anonymous publication called Bogus occasionally appeared on the college campus, much to the dismay of the college administration and to the delight of many students. The Bogus was a scandal sheet, printed secretly and distributed furtively by a group of young rebels who wanted to live dangerously.

Looking back on it now, I can see that the sheet was more vicious than humorous. Faculty members were insulted, college traditions ridiculed, eccentric students pilloried. As a result, if caught, the perpetrators of the Bogus faced expulsion.

In Hymn Books
Yet, when four other students asked me if I would like to join with them, I found the idea of putting out a Bogus irresistible. We had the sheet printed surreptitiously in a shop far from the campus. Then, through an unlocked window, we sneaked into the chapel one night and placed a copy in each hymn book!

Everything worked according to plan. The next morning the discovery of the leaflets caused a sensation at chapel.

Not a clue as to the culprits was uncovered during the rest of that year.

Meanwhile, the more I got to know and respect President Welch, the more I came to regret my part in the affair. Furthermore, my father was a Methodist minister, and I began to realize how he would feel if he knew.

Caught!
One day at the start of my sophomore year I received a notice to come to the President's office. To my consternation, I soon learned that my four compatriots had received similar invitations.

President Welch greeted us calmly, and seated us in a semicircle around his desk. Then he distributed marked copies of the Bogus to each one of us.

"You five are responsible for this, aren't you?"

We could not deny it. "Let's take turns reading some items together," he said. He had selected the worst.

We sat there mortified, squirming, almost dying.

The passage I had to read made my cheeks flush. How could we have been so stupid!

"Want Penalty"
"I made up my mind," President Welch said, "that the worst penalty the university could inflict would be meted out to those who put out this sheet. Some of you may have thought this just a college prank. Well, now you know that it calls for dismissal."

We sat there pale and shaken. "Yet," he continued, "I wish to think this over carefully before taking final action." With that he waved us out. For four weeks he let us stew and fret. When we finally met again, President Welch talked for a while in a friendly manner about our futures.

"I've decided," he said, "to let you stay in college provided you promise to do three things: First, you must tell your fathers about the Bogus. Second, you must apologize in a meeting of all the members of your fraternity. Finally, good conduct on your young men, but moral leadership."

Rebellion Over
At that moment, my period of rebellious youth was over.

In his baccalaureate sermon to our class, President Welch used the text, "I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves." He sought to instill in our hearts Jesus' philosophy that "the meek shall inherit the earth."

He urged us to love people, to detect exploitation in any form and to put sacrificial service for the common good as life's highest aim.

Because of Bishop Welch, I decided to go into the religious education field.

Today, almost half a century later, Bishop Welch is still more interested in the future than the past. He talks in terms of others, not himself. He still has the same zeal for living and the love of righteousness that characterized him in my college days.

5,000 GARMENT WORKERS IDLE; FEAR SPREAD

NEW YORK (AP) — Five thousand dressmaking industry workers are on strike in the metropolitan area.

Next Friday midnight is the deadline for a possible general stoppage in the dress manufacturing industry in a four-state area.

The local strike, which started on Monday, affects shops manufacturing dresses for 17 New York jobbers. These jobbers quit the established associations in the industry a month ago.

Strikes also started on Monday at four upstate New York dress factories.

The strikers both here and upstate are members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Continue Negotiations
Meanwhile negotiations are continuing between representatives of the union and employer groups.

The dress manufacturing industry employs 88,000 members of the union in the New York-New Jersey-Connecticut-Pennsylvania area.

Progress was reported by the union on Monday in the talks but President Dubinsky of the ILGWU told newsmen: "As of now, it still looks like a strike."

A union spokesman said the four struck upstate plants (in Utica, Little Falls and Oswego) are not affiliated with any of the groups now negotiating here.

The basic contract covering the 88,000 employees in the four-state area expired Jan. 31. It was extended for one month. The union demands a 15 per cent wage increase and other benefits. Current basic wage average $2.10 an hour. About 60,000 of the 88,000 work in New York City.

The general negotiations here do not affect about 50 jobbers who succeeded from the major employer groups just before the contract was extended. The 17 employers whose shops were struck yesterday are among the 50 bolters.

Two Firemen Are Injured At Blaze

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An early morning fire in a North Philadelphia building Tuesday caused injury to two firemen and forced nine persons to flee to the street in their night clothing.

The blaze damaged the upper two floors over Tunick's Sho Bar on Germantown Ave., west of Broad St.

Two alarms brought fire equipment speeding to the scene. The fire raged out of control for an hour before the firefighters' hose lines began to have their effect.

Hoseman Leonard Prodehl, 39, and James O'Donnell, 43, sustained bruises of the face when they were struck by a falling ladder.

Battalion Chief Kenneth Tompkins said the blaze apparently started on the second floor in the headquarters of United Auto Workers, Local 585. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

ARMY AND NAVY PREPARING TO FIRE SATELLITES

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Both the Army and Navy's satellite rockets are being readied for firing in the next two weeks.

Complications are delaying the Navy's effort. Vanguard, an informal source said Monday night. It isn't likely that Vanguard will be fired until later this week.

Vanguard's troubles include a liquid propellant shortage, minor electrical difficulties and revision of some of the rocket's valves, pipes and fuel tanks.

An Army Jupiter-C rocket, which successfully launched the first U.S. satellite Jan. 31, will make another satellite launching attempt, probably next week.

It had been set to follow the Navy Vanguard attempt but Vanguard now has to wait repairs and the supply of one of the fuels needed by its three-stage rocket.

Informants said the needed propellant is being shipped by truck from a Northern state.

The Vanguard is now in the flight test stage. Two earlier Vanguard launching attempts failed. The Army Jupiter-C, besides launching the Explorer, is a veteran test rocket.

Mt. St. Mary's wound up its regular season basketball schedule by easily defeating Washington College of Chestertown, Md., 50-28 Tuesday evening at Emmitsburg.

The score was one of the lowest in years for the Mountaineers, the unsuccessful result of the Shomens to freeze the ball for the entire game.

Coach Jim Phelan's outfit led throughout. Washington failed to score a point until Bob Bragg tallied a foul after 8½ minutes and the Shomens got their first field goal of the half about four minutes later on a toss by Freeman Sharp.

Shing Top Scorer
Bert Shing chalked up 18 points for the Mount, repeatedly stealing the ball to dribble down court to score. Dick Callahan led Washington with but nine tallies.

The Mount connected on 58 per cent of its shots as compared to a 46 per cent for the losers.

The triumph gives the Mountaineers a 14-8 overall season record and 9-9 Mason-Dixon Conference mark.

Mt. St. Mary's, ousted this season by American University and the conference titlist, was third-seeded in the pairings made Tuesday for the annual league post-season playoffs which will be held at Loyola College, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

DUKE IS UPSET BY VIRGINIA IN LONG OVERTIME

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Kansas State and San Francisco were sitting pretty in NCAA major college tournament seats today while Southern Methodist has upset the dope by gaining the inside track in a bid for a fourth consecutive Southwest Conference basketball crown.

On top of all that, Virginia made the already confused Atlantic Coast Conference battle even tougher to figure by upsetting Duke, which had won 11 straight, 70-68 in triple overtime last night.

Kansas State gained its fourth Big Eight title and NCAA berth by whipping Oklahoma 68-51. The Wildcats, ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, now have won 10 in a row for a 19-1 record.

San Francisco, No. 4, didn't have it so easy while building a 22-1 record with a 49-47 decision over St. Mary's (Calif.) that clinched the West Coast Athletic Conference championship and handed the Dons a ticket to their fourth consecutive NCAA shindig.

Holy Cross Beats Connecticut
St. Bonaventure and St. John's (N.Y.), both headed to the National Invitation Tournament, padded their records, while Holy Cross, passed over thus far by selection committees, upset NCAA-bound Connecticut 92-89 in double overtime. New Orleans Loyola, named to the NCAA field yesterday, whipped Memphis State 68-55.

SMU, crossed off as a Southwest power with the graduation of big Jim Krebs, took the undisputed lead with an expected 89-73 victory over Texas while Texas A&M was upsetting Texas Tech 79-63. SMU, now 8-4, hit 22 of 39 field goal attempts while building a 50-40 lead at the half. Rick Herrscher led the Mustangs with 28 points.

3 Tied For Second
Texas Tech, outscored 17-3 in the last 7:44 after blowing a 13-point lead on its home court, now is 7-5 and tied for second with Rice and Arkansas. All four contenders have two games left.

Kansas State, NCAA runner-up in 1951, managed only a 30-28 lead against Oklahoma's man-to-man defense at the half. But the Wildcats hustled 16 points ahead early in the second half as Roy DeWitz supplemented his usual fine defense with three quick field goals. Bob Boozer and Jack Parr again supplied K-State's scoring punch, however, with Boozer counting 23.

A disputed field goal helped San Francisco, which finished third in the NCAA championships last year after taking the title in 1955. St. Mary's led 26-23 at the half and was still in business until the Dons ahead to stay late in the game. Home fans stormed the floor and halted play while arguing with officials that Brown had stepped out of bounds before getting off the shot. It was all for nothing.

BELIEVE CUBAN PRESIDENT NOT ABLE TO CHECK REBEL CASTRO

HAVANA (AP)—The bold kidnapping of world champion auto racer Juan Manuel Fangio has convinced many Cubans that President Fulgencio Batista is virtually powerless to check the hit and run attacks of Fidel Castro's rebels.

The rebels snatched the Argentine racer Sunday night, on the eve of the Gran Premio race, and held him 29 hours despite feverish police efforts. They hoped to force cancellation of the race as a demonstration of their power. The race was held—six persons died and 31 others were injured when one car skidded off the course—but the kidnapping still gave Batista a black eye at home and abroad.

Abductors At Large

Fangio's abductors were still at large today, and the government was determined not to let Castro embarrass it in connection with the next big sports event. Police threw a guard around world lightweight champion Joe Brown of New Orleans to avert any attempt to sabotage his bout tonight with Cuban champ Orlando Echeverria.

The nontitle fight has been widely publicized because it is being televised to the United States and also is opening a new two-million-dollar sports arena.

Mixed Public Effect
Fangio's abduction had a mixed effect on the Cuban public. An intellectual branded it a "spectacle of shame." A worker shrugged and said it was just another proof that "the rebels can do anything they want." The influential newspaper El Mundo said that, as a result of the kidnapping, "Cuba's fame in all the world has been reborn with scandal."

The rebels themselves boast that the act proved Havana under Batista is not a safe place for tourists or foreign businessmen. They feel that by enough such acts, plus sabotage and killing of government sympathizers, they can force the government out.

HOPE TO AVERT DRESS WORKERS STRIKE FRIDAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Some progress is reported in negotiations seeking to avert a possible strike of 86,800 dress manufacturing workers in seven states.

Talks continue here today between representatives of five employer groups and the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The progress was reported by both sides following a bargaining session yesterday.

The work contract, which was extended one month, expires at midnight Friday.

A union spokesman said yesterday it was "unlikely" that a strike would be called at the deadline even if no agreement was reached by then. He pointed out that there is no regular work in the industry on Saturday or Sunday, and that any strike date that might be set would not be effective until Monday at the earliest.

Affect Many Others

The union spokesman also said: "And nothing prevents the union members from working a few days without a contract."

A strike would affect 57,000 workers in New York City and 29,800 in other parts of New York State, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Rhode Island.

A union spokesman said the union's shop stewards in New York City and also some out-of-town representatives will meet here tonight to plan strategy for a possible strike.

As the negotiations on a master contract continued, a strike against some jobs in the industry in New York City was diminishing, the union spokesman said. The strike started Monday. The 15 jobbers who were struck were among the two score who had refused to go along with the major employer groups which agreed to the one-month extension of the contract on Jan. 31.

cils of churches and community interdenominational agencies "that operate on the representative principle" may elect representatives to the Council's Assembly, or governing body.

Three divisions are proposed for the council's program: Christian Education, Christian Life and Work and Christian Missions. There will also be departments and committees with special responsibilities.

The constitution's preamble states: "Whereas, in the providence of God, the churches of Adams County desire to witness to their oneness in Jesus Christ as Divine Lord and Savior; and whereas the spirit of Christ compels Christians to find more effective ways of working together, therefore, be it resolved that the cooperating Christian churches of Adams County establish this constitution."

Four-fold Purpose

The four-fold purpose of the council as stated in its constitution follows: "To express through fellowship, cooperation and service the essential unity of the Christian churches; to provide an interdenominational agency for cooperation of the congregations in Christian education, social relations, public relations, worship, evangelism, missions, world Christian fellowship and for such services as may achieve more effectively the objectives of the Christian religion; to study the religious needs of the community and devise plans through which these needs can be met, and to do for the churches such cooperative work as the congregations authorize the council to carry on in their behalf."

LAUNCHING OF ROCKET DELAYED

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy has remedied a propellant shortage that helped delay a test launching of the Vanguard satellite rocket.

Other difficulties—minor electrical troubles and balky valves and other plumbing that also served to prevent a launching planned for early this week—have not yet been eliminated.

The Navy still hopes to launch the Vanguard before the weekend, thus leaving the way clear for the Army to attempt to send a second Explorer satellite—in the nose of a Jupiter-C rocket—into an orbit next week.

The propellant in short supply— one of the seven propellants used in the three-stage Vanguard—was propane.

The gas is used for the auxiliary jets that control the second stage of the Vanguard when it is coasting, at a speed of 9,000 miles an hour, after its engine burns out 140 miles above the earth.

The Air Force checked its data for explanations as to the loss of the last of the Navaho ramjet intercontinental missiles on its testing program.

The Navaho was destroyed by a range safety officer less than a minute after its launching shortly after noon yesterday.

A manned station on the moon could forecast the earth's weather to an extent now impossible, says Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of Harvard College Observatory.

PMA DISCLAIMS ROLE OF BEING "KINGMAKER"

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With the pre-primary race now under way, the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn. was on record today as disclaiming the role of political kingmaker.

James Malone, PMA president, said yesterday that the organization would play its proper part in the immediate political future of the Keystone State but told a luncheon PMA meeting "we have no desire to be kingmakers."

In past years, members of the PMA had an unofficial but highly important part in the election of Republican statewide candidates. Many of the political leaders within the party also were high in the ranks of the PMA.

Malone's statement yesterday was the first formal acknowledgment of the PMA's former position in the pick-the-candidate system. It could have a major influence on the May 20 primary and the Republican party's candidates to be chosen between now and then.

Political Overtones
Despite the on-the-surface non-political nature of yesterday's PMA luncheon and dinner meetings, there were political overtones in the background.

CHURCHILL IMPROVES
ROQUEBRUNE - CAP MARTIN
France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill's physicians Tuesday reported he continued to gain in strength and his progress is satisfactory.
Anthony Montague Browne.

Found Cash Buried In Box In Garden
COLBERT, Okla. (AP)—Bryan County Sheriff Raney Arnold said an elderly Negro woman found an undetermined amount of cash in her garden and mailed it to Cleveland for a relative to exchange for currency in good condition.

He said Mrs. Nancy Giles, 79, told him she unearthed an iron box containing the money last August and mailed it to her daughter-in-law, Osie Johnson, in September.

Mrs. Johnson told federal authorities in Cleveland when she turned in the money Tuesday that she delayed exchanging it so long because she had been ill.

Arnold said Mrs. Giles, who lives alone in her four-room home here, told him she didn't count the money because it was so rotten. Postal authorities in Cleveland said it was good enough, however, for exchange.

Among those seated on the dais last night at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel was GOP State Chairman George Bloom. He was accorded a standing ovation when introduced.

Bloom will preside next Monday at a meeting called for 12:30 p.m. at a Harrisburg hotel, when a tentative if not final slate will be picked by GOP leaders. The state chairman will be armed with the expressions of regional opinion after a series of meetings with county leaders in the past month.

One of those being prominently mentioned for the party's gubernatorial nomination is State Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside. There were reports that Bloom had found considerable support in the state for the jurist's candidacy.

Woodside Not Available
However, last night, Bloom told The Associated Press such was not the case and added that he was under the impression Judge Woodside wasn't available for the governorship.

Also projected into the GOP gubernatorial nomination picture recently—primarily under his own steam—has been Harold E. Stassen, who resigned last week as President Eisenhower's disarmament advisor. Stassen was not present for the PMA dinner last night and he had been given little encouragement by GOP party leaders, including Bloom himself.

Nonetheless, Stassen, former Minnesota governor, has said he is in the race to the bitter end. Petitions also have been circulated for two candidates for that GOP nomination for U.S. senate, seeking to fill the post now held by U.S. Sen. Edward Martin, who is retiring. The petitions were on behalf of Rep. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia and Commissioner T. Newell of Luzerne County.

2 SPIES HOLD SAD REUNION IN HOSPITAL

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Sobel and his wife, Myra, both confessed Soviet spies, had a tearful reunion yesterday in Bellevue Hospital.

Sobel, 55, recovering from an operation which removed more than a pound and a half of nuts and bolts from his stomach, "was more emotionally upset" than his wife, said Dr. Jason Miller.

The physician, who is attending Sobel, was present at the hour-long meeting along with two U. S. marshals and a nurse.

Miller added: "It was a real old-fashioned coffee klatch."

Mrs. Sobel, 53, was brought to New York Monday primarily to appear before a federal grand jury investigating espionage. She is serving a four-year sentence at the women's prison at Alderson, W. Va.

She kept her face covered with a large handkerchief on her way into the hospital and upon leaving. She refused to talk to reporters.

Sobel was brought here Feb. 15 from the federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa., to appear before the same grand jury. The next day he complained of illness and it was discovered that he swallowed the hardware in an apparent suicide attempt before leaving Lewisburg.

Miller said Sobel is well on the way to recovery.

Churchill's private secretary, declined to say whether Churchill has been permitted to leave his bed yet.
